WHAT NOW? WHAT NEXT?

It happens to all of us. We make a decision to act, put all of our passion and effort behind that action, and we fail. This failure is not final; it is simply feedback. How we react to this feedback can determine our path for incremental improvement and future success.

Marlo explores the cycle of success through intentional action, while succinctly providing tools anyone can use. Learn to navigate uncertainty, evaluate negative feedback, and embrace the power of vulnerability. Working together, we will solve two equations to give more clarity to each individual’s purpose:
Passion + Intention = Purpose
Time + Energy+ Money = Purpose

IT ALL COMES FULL CIRCLE

In reality, most of us have had tremendous amounts of success in our lives. Whether it was achieving educational milestones, securing career advancement, or excelling at a new hobby. However, soon after we achieve our lofty goal, we find ourselves thinking that something is missing. The never-ending cycle of striving and achieving begins once again. After 100s of interviews across three continents, Marlo introduces his unique concept: the ‘Spectrum of Joy.’ This framework guides us to discover enduring contentment alongside our accomplishments, culminating in a pivotal step that ties our cycle of striving and achieving together as we thrive after success.
